

Progressive Symmetric Erythrokeratodermia

胡俊弘

Kan SF;Tsai TH;Hu CH;Lee WR

摘要

Abstract

Progressive symmetric erythrokeratodermia is a rare disorder of keratinization manifested by hyperkeratotic plaques on an erythematous base. Familial cases have not been reported. The following is, to our knowledge, the first report of a case from America, as well as the first involving a black child