

Hypoplasia of the internal carotid artery with intercavernous anastomosis

陳啓仁

Chen CJ;Chen ST;Hsieh FY;Wang LJ;Wong YC

摘要

Abstract

We report a symptomatic case of unilateral hypoplasia of the internal carotid artery with an intercavernous anastomosis, a very rare developmental anomaly. The symptoms were caused by occlusion of the proximal middle cerebral artery which possibly related to the haemodynamic stress caused by the anomalous intercavernous anastomosis