

題名:Apex formation during active orthodontic treatment

作者:林利香

Lin LH; Chen CS

貢獻者:牙醫學系

上傳時間:2009-11-23

摘要:This clinical report describes an apexification procedure on a maxillary left central incisor in a 34-year-old male who was also receiving active orthodontic treatment. The pulp of the tooth had become necrotic following a traumatic injury when the patient was 8 years of age. Despite the tooth undergoing active orthodontic repositioning with fixed appliances, root-end closure occurred uneventfully and within 3 years.