GENERAL INFORMATION

Taipei Medical College is a private, co-educational institution. It was established in 1960. Its campus provides buildings for classrooms, laboratories, research centres, seminar rooms, administrative offices and the library, plus various recreation areas like basketball, volleyball and tennis courts, football and baseball fields.

This college is equipped with the facilities of a modern medical school. We have an on-campus teaching hospital of 300 beds, and three additional affiliated hospitals, situated off-campus. In addition, every student, in the course of his studies, circulates through most of the government hospitals in Taipei to practise the various fields in Medicine.

It is an institution devoted solely to the medical field. It consists of the Faculties of Medicine, Dentistry, Pharmacy and Medical Technology, together with a training program for nurses. More buildings will be established and the addition of other related faculties is anticipated in the near future.

This college has a great number of overseas students from various parts of the world. It is thus a place where the world's different colours meet each other, singing the same medical song and holding hand in hand for the pursuit of a common goal --- The Medical Field.
